Illinois Total Over Mil- lions; Boards Convene Today

Registration boards for the conscription of youths of Lee county filed their reports with County Clerk Sterling D. Schrock today, showing a total registration of 3,601. The cards were checked this morning and delivered to the officials of the draft groups, who then went into session to number and shuffle the cards, preparatory to the official drawing. William Loftus, Tim Sullivan and Carl Kling composed board No. 1, in charge of the conscription in Dixon, Palmyra and Nachusa townships. Gerald Jones of this city, Oscar Berga of Amboy and George Spangler of Franklin Grove, composed board No. 2 which is in charge of the draft in the remaining townships of the county.

At noon today it had not been decided where the headquarters for the down county districts would be located, but this was to be determined when the board convened in Amboy this afternoon to canvass the registrations, and to number and shuffle the cards.

The list of registrations showed that the second precinct in Dixon was the highest with 187 registrations while the ninth precinct in this county ran a close second with 182. Hamilton township was low with 40 and May township had 41. In the Ashton precinct one registrant gave his residence in Norway but presented his naturalization papers to prove his citizenship.

Rt. 71 Pavement May Be Completed in Fall

The Weir Construction Co. of Moline, completed pouring of concrete on the route 71 extension west of the Brechon corner late yesterday afternoon, thus completing the slab which now extends west to route 88 south of Rock Falls. Grading operations will be under way for some weeks and the new paving will not be open to traffic until after it has sufficiently cured and has been officially accepted by the state.

The Pickus Engineering Co., has about a half mile of concrete to pour on the stretch east of Como where the highway crosses route 2 and east to the bank of Rock river, where a new bridge structure spans the stream. Unofficially it was reported today that the new route 71 paving from Agnew to route 30 would be thrown open to traffic late this fall.

Last September Was Driest on Records

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Meteorologist E. W. Holcomb of the Springfield weather bureau station reported today that last month was the driest September ever recorded in Illinois.

Precipitation for the state was only 17 per cent of normal with an 0.64 inch average recorded during the three days when measurable quantities of rain fell. Normal for the month is 3.65 inches. Monthly totals within the state ranged from 2.78 inches at Cairo to none at Hardin.

Second driest September was last year when rainfall was 20 per cent of normal. Both dry months followed generally good August rainfall.

Wrong Station

Portland, Ore., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Sergeant Bill Drapeau was taken back to hear the police report that Car No. 11 was "out to lunch". It was only 10 a. m.

Agreeably, however, the radio dispatcher replied: "O. K. No. 11. Out to lunch".

The radio fairly sizzled. "This is No. 11. We ain't out to lunch. We ain't hungry. We just went to work".

Then Drapeau discovered that the Portland police radio accidentally had tuned in the police radio at Fort Worth, Tex., where the time is two hours later.

Willkie Triumph Forecast by One- Time Dem Analyst

Chicago, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Emil Hurja, who as a Democratic analyst forecast the election of President Roosevelt in 1932 and again 1936 elections, predicted yesterday the election of Wendell L. Willkie by a plurality of from 1,500,000 to 3,000,000 votes.

"So great is the defection among 1936 Roosevelt voters in urban areas," Hurja said, "that if it continues, the present campaign may take on the proportions of a landslide".

Hurja, executive director of the Democratic national committee from 1932 to 1936, now is publisher of Pathfinder magazine. His prediction before a Republican meeting, he said, was based on an "idealized cross section poll" taken over the nation within the last ten days.

President Losing

"In Illinois, he (Roosevelt) lost in 87 counties," Hurja related. "In the Lake states he lost in 64 per cent of the counties. In the farm belt he lost in 74 per cent. The same holds true in the border states".

Hurja said that within recent weeks there had been an accelerated defection from Roosevelt in towns and cities, possibly attributable to Willkie's campaign tour.

From 11 to 14 per cent of the voters, he found, were in the "don't know" class. He said the majority of these did not vote in 1936 and have not decided what to do in 1940.

Hurja said he found 67 per cent of the voters were opposed to the third term and "this may well decide the election". His poll of people on relief showed a drop of 12.2 per cent in Roosevelt strength.

Political Activity of AAA is Alleged

Washington, Oct. 17.—(AP)—The senate campaign investigating committee turned its attention today to Republican complaints that some employees of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration were engaging in political activity in the middle west.

Chairman Gillette (D-Iowa) asked agricultural department officials to confer with him after Rep. Hopper (R-Kans.) urged the committee to investigate charges of AAA political activity in Missouri, South Dakota and Iowa.

Committee agents were ordered yesterday to check up on hundreds of Washington, D. C., residents who were alleged to be registered voters of West Virginia.

District of Columbia residents have no vote unless they cast absentee ballots in their home states.

Roosevelt Turns Down Bill To Protect Birds

Washington, Oct. 17.—(AP)—President Roosevelt vetoed today a bill to "safeguard the homing pigeon" because he felt "that this is carrying national defense a little too far in times of peace".

The bill would have fixed a penalty of $500 for hunters and others who killed or removed the leg bands from a carrier pigeon. Harry H. Woodring, when the secretary of war, had approved the legislation because, he said, the pigeons were vital to defense.

Roosevelt Orders Expenditure of $100,000 to Survey St. Lawrence

Washington, Oct. 17.—(AP)—President Roosevelt informed Congress today that he had allocated $100,000 for preliminary surveys looking to development of additional power for defense at the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence river.

The money came from a $200,000,000 defense fund which Congress placed at the President's discretion and it was assigned to the Federal Power Commission and the Army Engineers Corps for core borings, test pits, soil analyses, and other preliminary work to be undertaken immediately.

"The preliminary investigations which I have authorized involve no actual construction or commitment to construct," the President said in his message and "in taking this means of advising Con-

LANDON'S SPEECH HEARD BY CROWD OF 10,000 PERSONS

Enthusiastic Rally in Sterling Last Night Campaign Feature

(Editor's Note—The text of Gov. Alf M. Landon's address, delivered at the Sterling Coliseum Wednesday evening, will be found on page 10.)

Over 10,000 people, including many from Dixon and Lee county heard Hon. Alf M. Landon, former governor of Kansas and Republican presidential nominee for president in 1936, plead for the election of Wendell Willkie and the entire Republican ticket in a rousing old-fashioned rally in Sterling Wednesday evening. The Coliseum seating facilities were inadequate to care for the crowd, which gave Landon an enthusiastic reception, and hundreds stood in the streets outside the building and heard his address over the public address system.

Prior to the meeting, which was preceded by a torch light parade two miles long and featuring eight bands, Mr. Landon spoke to about 300 newspaper people and public officials from the 13th congressional district at a dinner at the Sterling Elks tendered by D. W. Grandon and his son Preston, publishers of the Sterling Gazette and the LaSalle Post Tribune.

Mindful of Support

In his informal talk there Landon said he was mindful of the fine support given the Republican ticket by the 13th district in the 1936 election, expressed his personal thanks for that work, and asked for even greater efforts in behalf of the Republican ticket this fall.

Among the prominent men who were guests of the Grandons at this dinner were Ben Berve and R. A. Rennie, chairman and publicity director, respectively, of the Illinois Republican state central committee; Representatives Dennis Collins of DeKalb and George S. Brydia of Prophetstown; Senator George C. Dixon of this city; Judge Harry Wheat of Freeport; and H. C. Warner, chairman of the Lee county Republican central committee.

Refusal to Register Brings Subpoenas to Ten in New York City

New York, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Eight divinity students and two Socialists must answer to a federal grand jury today for their refusal to register under the selective service act.

The eight students were all that was left of an original group of 20 who announced earlier this month they would have nothing to do with conscription because "it is a part of the war system". The other 12 decided to comply.

All were enrolled at Union Theological Seminary where the eight were handed federal subpoenas yesterday by Assistant U. S. Attorney Robert L. Werner after his efforts to persuade them not to invite the penalties of the act were unavailing.

Subpoenas also were served on two others describing themselves as Socialists when they presented themselves voluntarily before U. S. Attorney John T. Cahill and declared they would not register.

Blinding Searchlight is New German Weapon

Berlin, Oct. 17.—(AP)—The Germans claimed a new defensive air raid weapon today—a super-searchlight which would blind British night raiders and make them fly directly into its rays, where they would be easy marks for anti-aircraft guns.

DNB, official German news agency, said the weapon was used successfully last night against a British bomber on the Dutch coast. The bomber, the agency said, was brought down in flames.

Freaks of Draft

(By The Associated Press)

If the army wants to add a circus sideshow to its entertainment program for draftees, it has some attractions already booked among yesterday's registrants.

Forty midgets from the World's Fair, registered in New York. A "quarter boy" and 86-pound "misshapen man" and a 609-pound fat man were among 800 reporting from the Louisiana state fairgrounds.

Circus employees registering in Columbus, Ga., included an eight-foot-four-inch man weighing 395 and a 42-inch midget, and San Francisco had an eight-foot-six-inch wine salesman and a 37-inch, 59-pound negro.

DYKSTRA SWORN IN AS DIRECTOR OF DRAFT TODAY

Calls Effectiveness of Registration Proof of Cooperation

By The Associated Press

Dr. Clarence A. Dykstra, Wisconsin University president, was sworn in today as director of the nation's first selective service system for raising an army in peacetime.

Assuming responsibility for supervising the draft of probably 5,000,000 young men from among the more than 16,000,000 registered yesterday, Dykstra took the oath in the office of Secretary of War Stimson.

Immediately afterward he received his commission from Stimson.

The approximately 5,000,000 civilian soldiers to be drawn from yesterday's registrants will, according to present plans, be spread over a five year period, with the first call to go out in mid-November.

Dykstra declared in his first public statement as draft director that "those who had thought we were soft and supine and, as a democracy, could not move with effectiveness, may be disappointed".

Holds Press Conference

The 57-year-old University of Wisconsin president, added that "the news is that the registration went off more than happily—with enthusiasm".

"It shows the ability of a great democracy to rise to an occasion of this kind," he told a press conference.

Shortly after Dykstra took office President Roosevelt issued an executive order authorizing him to appoint necessary members of local draft boards, appeals boards, government appeals agents and local board physicians. All such work from now on will be under the new chief's direction.

Dykstra called the effectiveness with which the registration was carried out, only a month after enactment of the conscription law, an evidence that government and citizens can work together to do "a most effective job".

The exact number registered was still in process of tabulation, but Washington officials predicted, on the basis of incomplete returns, that it would exceed by about 250,000 the original estimate of 16,404,000 based on the 1940 census—an increase of approximately 2 per cent, which would place the total at about 16,654,000.

Estimate Exceeded

As the counting and sorting of yesterday's registration cards began, preliminary reports from across the country said with frequency: "Registration exceeded advance estimates".

Good-humored and even gay for the most part, the young men of America from 21 through 35 liter-

"Rather than cause any controversy," Henges said, the Republican organization decided to cancel Willkie's talk.

Needless Worry

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Supt. Fletcher C. Kettle of the state old age assistance division said today that many pensioners were needlessly sacrificing a share of their living allowances to save up money for burial funds.

"No indigent recipient of old age assistance in Illinois need fear a pauper burial," Kettle declared. "Every such person will receive a funeral up to the standard of a family in moderate well-to-do circumstances".

Kettle reported that one woman pensioner, more than 80 years old and appearing weak and ill, was found selling aprons to accumulate a funeral fund. Another was discovered living in a chicken house and using the rent from his home for a burial fund.

Willkie Wants to Bring People of U. S. Better Lives

Aboard Willkie train en route to St. Louis, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Wendell L. Willkie, bareheaded in the bright sunshine of his native Indiana, said today he wanted to bring about an American standard of living that would make "our present one seem subnormal".

Contending that the New Deal believes "America is through," Willkie told a crowd in Evansville, Ind., that he wanted to mean an "alive, a developing, a hopeful" nation.

The Republican presidential nominee repeated his view that "more jobs" was a key campaign issue and added:

"Release us, release us, so that the people can build a new life in this country. If we go down to stagnation in defeatism, we will not produce and will become weak".

"The young people of America must choose between a party that promises them a career on the relief rolls and a party that promises them jobs".

His statements were made as he started a heavy day of campaigning in Indiana, Illinois and Missouri following a speech at Cincinnati last night on his relief views. Arguing that the New Deal had helped create a "slavery of idleness," he advocated five changes in the WPA program:

"Five WPA Changes

1. Greater emphasis on public works projects under private contractors.
 2. Placing WPA personnel on the merit system, and allocating relief funds to the states in accordance with the amount of unemployment.
 3. Treating men and women on work relief "not as a class apart, but as employees of the government".
 4. Inviting labor and other groups, including the AFL and CIO, to help set up a national training or apprentice program.
 5. Coordinating relief efforts of federal, state and local agencies by congressional action, along with establishing a research department to study relief in operation.
- Besides his stop at Evansville, Willkie's schedule today included rear platform talks at McLeansboro, Mount Vernon, Nashville, Belleville and East St. Louis, Ill. From there an auto caravan was being arranged to take him to St. Louis for an evening address.

Britain and Germany Evacuate Young from Bomb-Ravaged Areas

The War Today!

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Leander swam the Hellespont (we call it the Dardanelles nowadays) and maybe Herr Hitler could, too—but the Nazi fuhrer can't swim an army across this strategic water-barrier between Europe and the Near East to help Mussolini crush Britain in the Mediterranean theater.

That's fanciful, say you. Granted, but it's meant to emphasize that the Dardanelles Strait presents one of the most serious obstacles the axis partners will encounter if they try to crash into the Near East by a thrust down the Balkan peninsula.

It is a fact we should keep in mind as the war-threats flash back and forth across this cockpit, and the situation hourly grows more tense. We are likely to hear a lot more about the Dardanelles before we are through.

Herr Hitler must feel rather sorry for himself to find that, having been stymied from the British isles by the English channel, he now is up against another water hazard which has broken the hearts of many good men and brave in days gone by. It's one of the world's toughest roads to conquest.

Mass Raids Renewed

Adolf Hitler's warplanes renewed mass daylight raids on England today after heavy rains bogged down some of the German overnight attacks, giving London one of its quietest nights since early September.

Other fronts were ominously quiet.

In the Balkans, Russia and Germany continued to mass troops facing each other across the Danube river delta in Rumania.

In the Far East Britain arranged the reopening of the Burma road at midnight tonight (11:30 a. m., C. S. T.)—and fleets of Japanese bombers were reported poised to attack the flow of arms traffic to China along the ancient route once followed by Marco Polo.

Despite bad weather conditions,

British RAF bombers pounded the German naval bases at Kiel, Hamburg and Cuxhaven during the night, the London air ministry reported.

"Extensive fires were caused," the ministry said, adding that other RAF squadrons attacked a synthetic oil plant at Leuna and scored direct hits on ammunition factories in Saxony.

Today's "Invasion weather":

Heavy mist over Strait of Dover lifted this morning; visibility good, sea choppy.

The Germans reported their first daylight raiders penetrated to London at 9:50 a. m., but Londoners said that no bombs were heard in the first two alarms and that the Nazi warplanes, attacking in large numbers, were hurled back three times from the capital.

There were some deaths and injuries in a few London districts during the night where dwellings were demolished and "only a few industrial buildings" affected but generally, and government reported, casualties and damage were light.

While London was the chief target of the raiders, the Liverpool shipping and ship building area along the Mersey river also was attacked.

Claim Planes Lost

Germans in Berlin told of several hundred planes taking off from London during the night but a British air ministry spokesman said they must have got lost en route because they did not show up.

There also were intimations in Tokyo that the Japanese would take forcible action against the British crown colony of Hongkong, on China's eastern seaboard, if shipments of military equipment to China were resumed through that port.

Such shipments were halted at the same time the Burma Road was closed but the Japanese contend there was no time limit on this closure. Whether the British intended to reopen the Hongkong route was not at once clear.

Vacant $4,300-a-Year Job Filled by Stelle

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 17.—(AP)—The appointment of Charles E. Day of Aurora as fiscal supervisor in the state welfare department was announced today by Gov. John Stelle's office.

Day's appointment to the $4,300-a-year post filled a vacancy which had existed for several months following the death of James P. Cox, Chicago, in an automobile accident. The fiscal supervisor directs business management of all state institutions and welfare divisions.

Registration Has Special Moments Despite Its Numerous Annoyances

(By The Associated Press)

In spite of annoyances, registration has its special moments from coast to coast. For instance.

Philadelphia—A school teacher acting as registrar got a proposal from an enrollee who wanted to marry her, and "save him from the army".

Hardy, Ky.—John Boggs Tom Dick William Howard Taft Weddington could not get his full name on the registration card. He settled for John B. T. D. W. H. T. Weddington.

Shreveport, La.—One Negro went to register, carrying his suitcase, ready to go to camp immediately.

Plainfield, N. J.—A man listed his sister as being the person who always would know his address, explaining that he did not know how long his wife would stick with him.

Little Falls and Herkimer, N. Y.—Each city had eight sons of one family among its enrollees.

Glendale, Calif.—Triplets registered.

Seattle—A Negro who insisted he had no name chose one from among samples written by a registrar.

Baltimore—Bartenders who have been unable to tell whether youthful customers were minors hereafter will require them to show registration cards before being served.

Armstrong made the estimate after a study of reports from yesterday's draft registration. Probably 100 additional boards will be needed in Chicago and Cook county alone, he said.

The director explained the distribution of draft boards contemplated that each would have about 3,500 registrants in its area, but that in some Cook county areas over 11,000 men had registered.

Gov. John Stelle will be asked to name additional boards where needed, Armstrong said.

At the same time, the director announced only about 25 members appointed on the present 285 draft boards had notified state headquarters of refusal to serve.

Nazis Resume Mass Daylight Raids on British Capital

(By The Associated Press)

A mass exodus of 200,000 German children from Berlin, Hamburg and other large Nazi cities into western Rumania was authoritatively reported today, while Britain also took steps to remove children and mothers from bomb ravaged districts of London.

Dispatches from Bucharest said preparations were going ahead to house the German children now being removed from the Reich-land.

Health Minister Malcolm MacDonald told the House of Commons that 500 expectant mothers are leaving London weekly to escape Nazi bombs, and 489 school children or about 56 per cent of the school population have already left for safer havens in the countryside.

Other fronts were ominously quiet.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatism pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

No, it wasn't SPEED we were after

THE mighty straight-eight that propels the 1941 Buick CENTURY, ROADMASTER and LIMITED, is, we believe, America's most powerful standard-production automobile engine.

That suggests immediately that here is the instrument of great speed—but the fact is it wasn't speed we were after when we built it.

We were shooting for more efficient use of the fuel you burn — more economy, more power, more pick-up—yes, even easier car handling through less frequent need for shifting.

Consider, for example, just one quality of this great power plant—the tremendous reserve of power it puts at your command.

At 20 miles an hour this Buick uses only 7.4% of its available power—at 30 only 9.7%—at 50, less than one-sixth, and so on.

You can see for yourself how this tremendous reserve, instantly available, eliminates much of your need for shifting to lower gears.

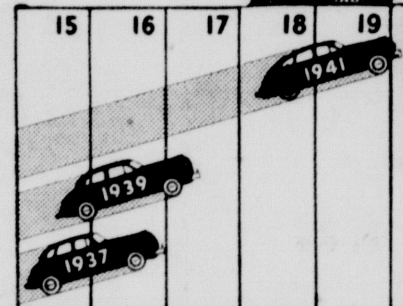

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

It does even more—for with all this power, we can use a more economical gear ratio in our standard top speed.

And that means that all the time you travel in high—you are getting the equivalent of overdrive or fourth-speed economy without mechanical complication.

In consequence, miles per gallon go up as much as 10% to 15%.

This husky 165-horsepower giant actually gives more gasoline economy than our 107-horsepower engine of a year ago.

At 50 it consumes no more fuel than the same-sized engine of conventional design drinks up at 30.

The whys and wherefores of such performance are best understood when you have an engine to look at and someone to answer your questions about it.

Two things account for all this good — FIREBALL* design that gets more power out of every gallon of gasoline and Compound Carburetion that gives your engine two distinct ranges of power.

Each of these is important enough to call for personal investigation—see your Buick dealer now.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other. Real patriots who may resist the intrigues of the favorite are liable to become suspected and odious, while its tools and dupes usurp the applause and confidence of the people to surrender their interests." From the Farewell Address.

Old Age Security

There are two kinds of old age security. The kind that seems to be most in view at present is that which is paid for by the government, through taxes, in the form of pensions.

The other kind of old age security is self-starting. It is in the form of life insurance policies. There are 50 million insurance policies in force in the United States. They are payable to, or on behalf of, people who save their money and pay it periodically to life insurance companies. The life insurance companies pay it back at a stipulated time, either to the policy holders or their heirs.

Insurance companies do not simply lock the premium money in safes and keep it there until policies mature. They invest the money in government bonds and various other securities according to law. If the yield from government bonds is low, the policies pay low dividends. If industries, whose securities the insurance companies hold, are unable to pay dividends, then the insurance companies can not pay dividends on policies.

New Deal activities have forced insurance companies to reduce dividends 50 per cent or more. If the government continues its policy of spending more than it receives and going further and further into debt, then inflation is inevitable, if past experience is any guide.

Inflation cheapens money. A one-thousand-dollar insurance policy, maturing today, will bring the policy holder $1,000 in cash; but that money is valuable only for what it will buy. Under any system of inflation, a maturing $1,000 policy still would bring $1,000 in cash, but the cash would not buy as much as it would today. If there is a 25 per cent inflation, then the $1,000 received from a policy would buy only $750 worth of goods. Under a 50 per cent inflation it would buy only $500 worth of goods, and so on. In Germany an inflation was brought on by a government which had so many debts it wished to be free of them. It cheapened money to a point where a small fortune, measured in terms of old-style German marks, was necessary to mail a letter. A loaf of bread cost a wheelbarrow full of money. Men were paid by the day, so they could rush to market to take advantage of swiftly rising prices.

France had a form of inflation. In days before the World War a French franc was worth, roughly, 20 cents in American money. Last we heard of the French franc it was worth something like 3 cents in American money, and getting cheaper.

Such inflationary processes spell hard times for old people, widows, orphans and institutions such as colleges, which live by endowments and investments. Insurance companies fall within that category. If American money is cheapened as result of inflationary debts and spending, 50 million policy holders will find their policies worth proportionately less. They say they are going to prevent that.

They also said they were going to balance the budget.

Form of Hypnotism

A New England woman had been ill three months. She spent most of her time in bed and was totally unable to do any housework. The trouble was in her back, she declared. She bought many drugs and tried to cure herself by remedies suggested by friends and neighbors.

At last, being an open-minded person, she went to a psychiatrist. The expert talked to her a few moments, then told her there was nothing wrong with her back. Upon hearing that, the surprised lady arose and walked home. For the first time in months she prepared supper.

She was mystified by her sudden cure. "The doctor said there was nothing wrong with my back," she said, "and there wasn't."

Nations, as well as individuals, can be hypnotized into believing something that isn't true. What has been happening to the people of the United States of late can be compared to the case of the New England woman. We have been told there was a crisis. Immediately, on hearing that information from high places, we begin to believe there is a crisis.

We are told that only one man can save us from some terrible, but undefined evil, and behold, we begin to believe it. These unwholesome suggestions are made from day to day and from various sources. The people are sitting on the edges of their chairs and gnawing their fingernails as result of the suggestions issued by the man who wants a third term, and by the men who want him to have a third term so they can keep their jobs as payrollers.

Japan, tied up in a life and death struggle with China, and threatened by the might of Soviet Russia, is about to take on the United States across 5,000 miles of water. Germany, with all of Europe to keep subdued and Russia to keep at heel, and as yet unable to get across the English channel, is about to take over the United States as well. Italy, whose navy is weak, and which lacks everything necessary to wage a major war, is about to attack us. Or the three are about to combine their weaknesses.

What the United States needs is an authoritative voice to tell us we have no backache.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLOTT

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS (Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, October 17.—A Hitler spy and saboteur center may be torn out by the roots and jailed or expelled as a result of the most recent evidence the Dies committee investigators have dug up.

A net of legal proof involving 50 or more persons in unclassified mysterious activities—the first legal proof that has yet been obtained—will probably be spread upon the committee record in a closed or open session within a few days.

Basis for action is the Zapp correspondence seized from the files of the Nazi agent, Manfred Zapp, masquerading as a German newsman, substance of which has been published in this column the past two days. Every word of the correspondence is being sifted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the state department to determine the extent to which the Nazi propagandists named therein can be prosecuted legally for espionage, as distinct from those German embassy officials and diplomats who may only be invited to leave the country.

In case any voters are yet in doubt as to what the issue is in this congressional election, Representative Kent Keller, the Ave. Ill. Democrat, has taken steps to set them right. In a message urging the re-election of his colleague, Ed Izac of San Diego, Keller has informed the world through the Congressional Record:

"Summarizing the record of Ed Izac, the following figures show how much money he brought into his district during his four years in congress:

1937, $5,000,000; 1938, $8,000,000; 1939, $9,000,000; 1940, $22,000,000.

"The next four years are the most important period in the history of San Diego. If Congressmen Izac is re-elected, in congress, San Diego people have every reason to expect it to become the greatest naval base on the Pacific coast."

The British are hot after American light tanks and flying fortresses. They will get them but may have to wait until after election. The administration desires to do as little as possible to ripple the electoral waters before Nov. 5.

Some opposition is stirring within the army to the release of the tanks but no objection would be made to relinquishing the flying fortresses. The army has insufficient tanks to equip only two armored divisions, and the scarcity of armor plate is hindering defense preparations. The British want them because they have air-cooled engines, making them especially adapted for fighting in Egypt and the desert areas. The idea of air cooling for tanks apparently has not previously occurred to the British.

The flying fortresses are validly obsolete. They have inferior armor and improvements that have lately been made as to speed, guns, etc. They would, however, be valuable for night bombing over Germany. Our production has been stepped up from three to five planes a month.

According to official folklore, it is just Republican propaganda that a presidential campaign is now under way. Mr. Roosevelt has not yet admitted he is running for a third term. No government department will confess it has any knowledge here in Washington that a political argument is in progress around the country.

Consequently warm denials have been issued against the natural inference that the new exemptions announced by wages and hours and the official leakage on the SEC study of rich family influence upon corporate life, were thrown out at this time as political fodder.

The wage hour exemptions were timed by law. The act required the 40-hour week to go into effect October 24 and if any exemptions were to be made, they had to be announced before that date. Business representatives here concede they are fairly beneficial to business.

But behind the plea of political ignorance every government department is issuing its publicity policy for effect on campaign. The work has been coordinated and timed in advance as efficiently as the German time schedule for the march through Holland.

Steam-lined efficiency is supposed to be the order of the day in promoting Latin-American trade. The president recently sent Warren Lee Pierson, head of the Export-Import bank, to Argentina armed with great powers, and

Sales Manager of Local Auto Firm Speaks in Chicago

D. D. McMahon, sales manager of the George Nettz company of Dixon, addressed the National Advertisers Executive association in Chicago Tuesday afternoon in a meeting at the Blackstone hotel, attended by over 300 daily newspaper advertising managers, department heads and members of advertising agencies.

Representatives of large and small newspapers throughout the nation attended the three-day conclave which ended yesterday.

Mr. McMahon, speaking on the subject of "Grudgingly We Pay the Newspapers," urged maintenance of greater efficiency in classified ad departments in preparing a comprehensive program which would present a composite picture of the personality and character of automotive dealers.

He added that individual stunts in advertising are good only in case they fit into a planned advertising program. "Every effort," he said, "should be made by newspaper classified advertising departments to extend all possible help in promotion of auto dealers. The majority of auto dealers welcome the help as their business is primarily to sell the cars and not to run the newspapers."

He concluded with the admonition: "To sell them you must tell them," and said that today there is but one sure, effective medium in every field which is our own daily newspapers.

Order of DeMolay.—L. W. Miller, former county superintendent of schools, addressed the members of the local order of DeMolay last night in an educational meeting at the Masonic Temple.

Mr. Miller defined education as "a preparation for meeting the problems of life and not merely scholastic achievement." According to Mr. Miller, who has had extensive experience, education should not be regimented, since no two children react the same. He told his audience of young men that good citizenship and not just "books" is the major objective of education and that today five times as much is spent on the apprehension, conviction and punishment of criminals than on education.

Urging reforms of the old system, Mr. Miller urged that mere "parroting" of recitations be abandoned and discard of the old "vile and vicious" forms of examination. Competition, he urged, should not be between pupils, but against oneself and grades should be given according to the improvement of the individual, not the ability of the student in comparison with the group.

Master Councilor Robert Sanborn last night appointed the following committee chairman: Jim Palmer, entertainment; Bernard Frazer, chapter paper; Bob McNamera, publicity; Marshall Bunnell, sick committee; Bob Travis and Fred Sanford, sports, and Bob Tennant, finance.

Jim Palmer was named general chairman to arrange for the chapter's Thanksgiving dance and George Dorland was named in charge of decoration. Bob Coakley to handle the cloak room and James Hoon for preparations of the hall.

SERIAL STORY

NEW YORK JUNGLE

BY WRAY WADE SEVERN

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Barkes, the chauffeur, returns, reports seeing a green sedan. He is unable to identify it, or the man in it. He surprises Sidney by announcing he carries a gun. Mrs. Langdon insisted that he be armed.

NEW EVIDENCE

CHAPTER IX

WHEN the police finally arrived, Sidney met them alone. Pat had asked it, and the others had readily consented. As the garage lawyer, it had seemed logical to allow him to do the talking.

There were two officers: Sergeant O'Connor, tall and alert, and his superior, Captain Plowman, of the state police. Plowman's broad, impressive face was devoid of personal expression. Sidney was relieved when the officers reported a green sedan had passed them, and that a fallen tree had forced them to detour. He did not want to see Barkes needlessly involved.

Quickly, Braitwood related the facts as he knew them. He told of Adam's return from Africa on a ship, other than that he had cabled he was sailing on his surprise marriage; the kinship of the guests to the murdered man. He did not dwell on Maria's broken love affair, nor did he stress the fact that Gundrum had been engaged to Pat. Sidney told his story as he imagined each one of them would have told it.

Coming to tonight, the lawyer reviewed the dinner and Adam's pleasure in his new trophies. While they were having coffee in the jungle, they had found themselves locked in; Hugh had shot the lock; the men had gone in search of the supposed robber.

Then, Sidney went on, a scream had brought them back to the jungle. They had found Adam dead and Marta unconscious at his feet. He touched briefly Nella's neurosis concerning her and his hunt with Hugh for the blaze. He also recalled Pat's search for her pearls, and his own regret that they all had been unable to remain together, despite their agreement.

"Then the chauffeur was the only member of the household who could have locked the rest of you in?" Plowman asked.

"Yes, but he had driven to the village."

"Say he did return," Plowman persisted. "Could he have escaped through the open door in the dark, while you were looking for matches?"

Travel Club Hears Cuban Travelogue

A Cuban travelogue, presented by Winston Edwards who used several reels of moving pictures in illustration, entertained members of the Dixon Travel club Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. S. W. Lehman, Bluff park. Miss Dorothy Hurst was the evening's hostess, assisted by Miss Mita Wohnke.

The hostesses greeted their guests in costume, and entertained with a rumba, with Miss Helen DuBray assisting at the piano. Mrs. Edna Pine introduced the special number as "One Lesson with Madame Le Neff-a".

The pictures took the guests from Miami to Cuba, where they saw Morro Castle, now used for military training similar to West Point; Shark's Nest, where bodies of those formerly put to death in the castle were disposed of; the capitol building and grounds; the president's palace, statue of General Gomez, the Columbus cathedral and plaza and the statue of the Maine; the grounds of Havana university; American club, Lincoln hotel, National Theatre, Fraternity park and past the marble homes on Havana's "Fifth Avenue"; tropical gardens, boulevards lined with royal palms, fields of pineapple, sugar cane and discarded sponges, and a sponge fleet on the Caribbean.

MISS SLAGLE IS PARTY HONOREE

Continuing the round of pre-nuptial courtesies for Miss Mary Kathryn Slagle, fiancée of Wallace Hicks, Mrs. Ralph Gonnerman was hosting at a buffet supper and towel shower last evening. A bridal book was compiled for the honoree, whose guest cards read for:

Mrs. William Smith, Mrs. A. Koehler, and the Misses Betty Moerschbacher, Frances Crawford, Ethel Cline, Audrey Stewart, Josephine May, Kathryn Herman, Jane Slothower, Sylvia Carey, and Naomi Wolf.

On Tuesday evening, Miss Slagle's co-workers in the auditing department of the Illinois Northern Utilities company arranged a theater-dinner in her honor. A coffee table was presented to the bride-elect from the group, including the Misses Audrey Stewart, Ethel Cline, Kathryn Herman, Josephine May, and Gertrude Wallin.

A bathroom rug that won't slip is one of the nicest and most practical of the new household accessories on the market. The face of the rug is fabric, the backing a resilient rubber with a honeycomb construction that grips the floor firmly, preventing slipping even on tiled surfaces.

Children Shouldn't Have HEADACHES

Doctors reveal many reasons why some children suffer from headaches. One of the reasons, they say, is definitely due to a weak foot condition. This condition affects the muscular, nerve and circulatory systems. It is pointed out that incorrect shoes are usually the cause of these troubles! Parents can prevent child foot ailments by providing proper shoes—carefully fitted! Parents should also watch for outgrown shoes—they're dangerous!

"Glass" Car Goes to Chicago for Auto Show

THE ONLY FULL-SIZE model of its kind in the world, this transparent Pontiac "torpedo" is to be exhibited for the first time in the mid-west at the Chicago automobile show, where it will form a part of the Fisher Body exhibit. Built to show the rigid construction of the "unisteel" turret top body, the "glass" car is considered by body-building experts to be an outstanding tribute to the skill of Fisher craftsmen. Working with plexiglas, a new crystal-clear plastic material, they succeeded in reproducing in exact detail the outer body structure of a production model, linking it with the steel interior bracing.

Episcopal Church Convention Votes for Official Flag

Kansas City, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Delegates hope to complete the triennial convention of the Episcopal church Saturday, five days ahead of schedule, but find themselves stymied by lack of a host for their 1943 meeting.

Presiding Bishop Henry St. George Tucker of Richmond, Va., said the convention had not received a single bid for the next triennial.

The Rev. Thomas Casady of Oklahoma City, bishop of Oklahoma, promptly made a conditional offer:

"We have no facilities with which to hold a convention in Oklahoma City, but we will be glad to have you if you will come."

The House of Bishops and Deputies, speeding their business sessions, estimated the convention would adjourn by Saturday instead of Oct. 24, as scheduled, but officials said they considered adjournment unlikely until after a convention city was chosen.

Bishop Tucker called a joint session of the Houses of Bishops and Deputies at noon today to hear the Rt. Rev. Noel Baring Hudson of Great Britain outline needs of overseas missions of the war-weakened church of England.

Included in the American church's recommended triennial budget, yet to be approved, is a $117,000 annual appropriation to aid British missions.

Adopt Church Flag

After considering designs for 20 years, the convention adopted an official church flag, submitted by William M. Baldwin of New York.

The flag has a red cross on a white background. In the upper left corner are nine Jerusalem white crosses on a pale blue field.

Other actions included: Rejection of a proposal to create a separate missionary district for Negro communicants in Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi.

Final approval of membership in the World Council of Churches. Concurrence by deputies with bishops to establish the National Cathedral in Washington, D. C., as the seat of the presiding bishop. Bishop Tucker now headquarters in New York.

Revision by deputies of a resolution passed by the bishops advising Episcopalians in communities where they had no church to associate with a Presbyterian congregation. The deputies voted to extend the resolution to include other denominations.

The Japanese imperial dynasty is claimed to be 2,600 years old.

Problem of Jobs Holds Spotlight in Campaign Talk

By The Associated Press

The problem of America's jobless held the campaign spotlight today as Wendell L. Willkie called for a revision of the WPA program and Henry A. Wallace termed present unemployment insurance too conservative and said that it would have to be made more generous.

Willkie charged that the New Deal had made a "frank and shameless promise" of more unemployment and added that "our promise is more jobs".

In a speech prepared for Evansville, Ind., he called for changes in the WPA including greater emphasis on public works projects under private contractors and allocation of relief funds to the states according to the amount of unemployment. Willkie's talk was one of a number on the day's crowded schedule of campaigning in Indiana, Illinois and Missouri.

Wallace advocated extension of social security benefits as he replied to Republican charges that the Roosevelt administration's policies would lead to national bankruptcy and failure to meet workers' claims. The Democratic vice-presidential nominee spoke at Pittsburgh last night.

"Such talk," he said, "is in the same class with the story that went out in pay envelopes just before the election in 1936 that you would have to wear license numbers around your necks like dogs."

Wallace was introduced by Philip Murray, CIO vice president who seconded his nomination at the Democratic national convention.

"We look forward to the day when every elderly citizen can have a decent old age pension without red tape or humiliation, as a natural and proper dividend on his citizenship in the richest nation in the world. Our system in its present form is far from bankrupt; it is more troubled with surplus than with deficits."

Wallace was introduced by Philip Murray, CIO vice president who seconded his nomination at the Democratic national convention.

from this trend toward totalitarianism."

Attorney General Jackson said at Boston that Willkie's campaign had "completely failed to get any response from the masses outside of the tickler tape district."

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) told a Wilkes-Barre, Pa., audience that the Roosevelt administration, instead of building an adequate national defense, so far has succeeded only in "lining up against the United States all the powerful military nations of the world except England."

WALLACE IN EAST

Pittsburgh, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Henry A. Wallace, Democratic vice presidential nominee, carried his campaign into West Virginia today after telling a Pittsburgh audience the unemployment insurance system "will have to be made more generous."

His itinerary called for stops and brief speeches at Wheeling and other Ohio river communities during the day, followed by a formal address at Parkersburg, W. Va., tonight. Arthur B. Koontz, Democratic national committeeman, said the candidate would be welcomed in Parkersburg with a torchlight parade.

Speaking at Pittsburgh last night, the former secretary of agriculture struck back at a Republican charge that social security benefits will not be paid if the Democratic administration is re-elected.

Wendell Willkie, Republican presidential nominee, said at Youngstown, O., on October 3 that if the Roosevelt administration were re-elected "no social security will ever be paid because this nation will go bankrupt."

Wallace, while not mentioning Willkie, said:

"Too Conservative"

"Such talk is in the same class with the story that went out in pay envelopes just before the election of 1936, that you would have to wear license numbers around your necks like dogs."

"As a matter of fact, the unemployment insurance system has turned out to be too conservative and it will have to be made more generous. 'I know and so do you that the president is not satisfied with old age security as it now stands. The law has already been amended once, and the president served notice that as fast as public support can be obtained, further improvements are in order."

Boston, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Attacking Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's most recent radio address, Attorney General Jackson held today that "no speech, in its timing and substance, could more perfectly have served the purpose of those who would weaken the morale of democracy and undermine the spirit of our defense effort."

"It was significant," Jackson told the Law Society of Massachusetts last night, "that his only reference to democracy was a sneering reference to the effect that the public was being harangued about it."

Jackson said, "there has arisen in this country what appears to be a school of thought which denied that our government is or ought to be democratic."

It costs the government about $15,000 to train a single army or navy pilot.

Business Men Failing to Contribute Toward Willkie Campaign Fund

New York, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the Republican national finance committee, says business men who "wanted Willkie" and "long before the Philadelphia convention gave assurances of financial support to his campaign, x x x have not made good their promises."

As a result, Weir added, the campaign of the Republican presidential candidate, who came from behind to capture the nomination, "is being handicapped by lack of funds. Not one activity is being properly supported with money. It has been a difficult thing right along to get money to run this campaign and has been difficult for me to understand why business men have not contributed."

SUBSTANTIAL DISHES

Banana Meat Rolls

2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup shortening
1/4 cup milk (about)
1 cup cooked ground meat
1 1/2 teaspoons chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 cup diced bananas

(1 to 2 all-yellow bananas) Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening. Add milk gradually, mixing until soft dough is formed. Turn out on a floured board. Roll into oblong shape 1/2 inch thick. Combine meat and seasonings. Add diced bananas and mix lightly. Spread banana-meat mixture evenly over dough, being sure it extends to the edges. Roll like a jelly roll. Cut into 1 1/2 inch slices and place into greased muffin tins. Bake about 30 minutes in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.). Serve with parsley or paprika white sauce, tomato sauce or gravy, if desired. Eight servings.

Note: Baked or boiled ham is a favorite in this recipe.

Corn Pudding

Combine:
1 No. 2 can cream style corn
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1/2 teaspoon salt
Mix 1 cup ready-to-eat cereal flakes
3 tablespoons butter melted

Combine mixtures. Pour into buttered baking utensil and bake 40 minutes in moderate oven 350 degrees F. Serves 4 to 5.

Glazed Apples

5 large baking apples
1 cup sugar
2 cups water.

Core and peel the apples one-third of the way down. Place in a saucepan in a syrup made from the sugar and water. If more than five apples are used, increase syrup in proportion.

Cover closely and simmer the apples gently until tender, but not broken. Lift the apples carefully from the saucepan and place in a shallow baking pan. Pour the syrup around them and sprinkle liberally with granulated sugar. Place the pan under the flame of the broiler, or on the top shelf of a very hot oven (450 to 500 degrees F.).

The sugar will melt and glaze the apples. It may be allowed to brown delicately, if closely watched.

Remove from the oven, cool, and serve the apples in their jelly-like syrup with plain or whipped cream.

Variation: Stuff centers of the apples with chopped nuts, prunes, apricots, or raisins.

Apples cooked in this way are fluffy, juicy, unbroken, and they do not shrink. The entire process may be done in the oven, using a covered baking utensil, but the cover must be removed for the final glazing.

Cranberry Shortcake

It is time to think about cranberries—and to start using them. A tempting newcomer in the prolific shortcake family is cranberry shortcake. Here is the method:

2 cups sifted flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons shortening
3/4 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter

Ten-Minute Cranberry Sauce

(see recipe)
Sift dry ingredients. Melt the shortening and work into dry ingredients. Add milk. Roll out and cut to make two layers for cake pan. Place one layer in pan, spread with melted butter, cover with second layer.

Bake about 20 minutes in very hot oven (450 degrees F.) Place Ten-Minute Cranberry Sauce between layers and on top. Serve hot with whipped cream.

Ten-Minute Cranberry Sauce

This recipe is a favorite:
1 pound or quart (4 cups) cranberries
2 cups water
1 1/2 to 2 cups sugar
Boil sugar and water together 5 minutes. Add cranberries and boil without stirring until all the skins pop open (5 minutes usually is sufficient). Remove from fire when popping stops and allow the sauce to remain in utensil undisturbed until cool.
For a thinner sauce, just bring water and sugar to a boil; then add berries and let them cook until they stop popping.

SELF-POLLINATION

Plants which bear two types of flowers, such as the milkwort, are called "cleistogamous". Thus, when one set of flowers is destroyed, the seed still will be produced, since self-pollination will occur in the underground flowers.

Text of Gov. Landon's Address at Sterling Last Evening

It is a good, stout American custom to talk your problems and differences over with your next door neighbor. That is my purpose in coming here to Sterling tonight. You and I may not always agree, but we understand each other because it is our habit to talk in plain, unvarnished language, and that is what I propose to do here tonight.

We must stop judging our public leaders by their radio style. After all, a voice gets us nowhere. It is the way a man acts—the efficiency and the common sense of his public actions—that counts in times like these. If we allow a smooth delivery to lull us into false security today, we will have only ourselves to blame for the penalties of tomorrow. We must start judging our public leaders by their record. Mr. Roosevelt, the candidate, is trying to hide behind the great office he occupies. He is either afraid to submit his record to the mature judgment of American citizens, or he is again showing contempt for the people by refusing to take great issues to them for decision in our accustomed way.

To those who say that Mr. Wilkie is criticizing too much, my answer is that in America a candidate's record is open for public discussion. It should be criticized and explained to the American people in our traditional way.

The outstanding characteristics of Mr. Roosevelt's leadership are secrecy, intolerance and poor management. He conceals his plans. He is intolerant of criticism from without and from within the Democratic party.

It was perfectly evident at the Democratic convention in Chicago that the president intended to have no unnecessary thinking going on there.

The senior Democratic United States senator from Illinois, in abandoning his hopes for the vice-presidential nomination, made this significant admission: "This was a free and open convention."

So it is perfectly evident that we have a one-man party, and unless the Republicans win next November, we will practically be reduced to a country without a substantial political opposition. Thus we will be in step with all the dictator countries of the world. It is not a matter of whether the president has any such ambitions or not. We will simply have prepared the ground for dictatorial authority.

In this campaign grave and crucial questions must be decided. We are confronted everywhere with the wreckage of normal economic life and the blighting of human hopes. We all realize that the end of this disintegration is not yet in sight. And we know, because we are sensible people, that we too are in grave danger if we continue our present haphazard way of administering our national government.

We must look the facts in the face. We must realize there is a definite and interlocking relationship between a government's policy at home and its policy abroad. One is dependent upon the other. What it does at home dictates what it can accomplish abroad. There is no honest way to avoid that conclusion.

We must be proof against any attack or decay from within. We must be strong and well prepared to resist attack from without. The only way to be effectively prepared against military invasion of any kind is to pursue a sound, common sense course at home.

Troubles In Our Own Homes

The difficulties of America start in our own homes, in our own factories, on our own farms, in our own offices. The lesson we have to learn is plain. If we aim only to obtain from government by pressure groups the maximum of profits and the minimum of taxes, the maximum of security and the minimum of individual contributions, the maximum of government relief and a minimum of individual effort, the maximum of wages with a minimum of hours, if we fall for the theory of Mr. Roosevelt's handpicked candidate for vice president that the way to get rich is to spend money for war, in short, then we as a people shall in the end lose everything. Ultimately, we will receive the least and pay the most.

Our National Defense

There is a "heel of Achilles" in our national defense program. So long as we continue to allow rampant unemployment and wasteful government spending, we are deliberately inviting danger from a "fifth column" as deadly as any which helped precipitate the collapse of the democracies of Europe. It does us little good to bolt all our doors and windows with a strong army and navy, and then allow matches to be lit in the powder magazine.

If we return to office that little group of White House advisers who believe the capitalist system is a failure, who believe that government must, perforce, take over its historic functions, who have continually displayed their animosity to all private business, then, when we build a huge army and navy, we are simply plastering paint and powder on the skin of a body that is sick.

One safe course is open to all of us this fall. Election of a competent administrator to meet world emergencies, give jobs to the unemployed, and raise agricultural prices, on a sound basis.

Wendell Wilkie, in my opinion, has the qualities and the experience to make such an administrator. To the millions of Americans who are ambitious for themselves and their children, who are not content to stay on the relief rolls, Wendell Wilkie's election holds out real promise. It actually offers the jobs and opportunities which were promised by the war dealers seven years ago. Neither the ambitious man on the relief rolls, nor the farmer, nor the millions of unemployed, have been able for seven years to sell their labor at a decent wage.

Summing up the difference between the two candidates, Mr. Wilkie favors policies that mean neither an irresponsible democracy nor an unrestrained plutocracy.

Now what do I mean by that? First, I mean a government that does not run into the "red" every year, as we have done only under this administration. The public deficit under Mr. Roosevelt has continued to soar, and the end is not in sight. As a result of the financial policy of this administration, the most serious fiscal crisis in our history lies ahead of us. This loose fiscal policy threatens national defense. It threatens all the new deals that have been made in the way of legislation. Second, I mean an unrestrained plutocracy will destroy the republic just as surely as will an unsound fiscal policy. There must be a socially-conscious federal government recognizing that it has an interest in how industry makes and spends its profits, that it has an interest in wages and working conditions and in old age pensions; a government that keeps pace in its functions with the new tools created by our industrial growth—massed production and massed population.

Mr. Wilkie, in his speeches and writings before he was nominated, and since, has shown that he is perfectly aware that we are in an epoch of great change. He is aware that we are facing the most drastic of these changes as foretold by events in Europe and here at home.

Collective Bargaining

Mr. Wilkie has declared himself for government assistance in collective bargaining and in wages and hours. He recognizes that in labor agreements the employer's word weighs a ton compared to the word of unorganized employees. Therefore, it's up to the government to redress this balance. He is for conservation and subsidies to promote a healthy agricultural life. He believes in a great local voice in directing the farm program along a more human, more flexible and practical course. He is for decentralization of industry, taking the control as much as possible away from Wall Street. He is for stock exchange regulation, and social security. He is as much against the concentration of power in financial handling as he is against the concentration in government. But he wants all these things to work. This is one quality the administration does not seem to have. Its entire record is overshadowed by the appalling fact that after seven years it is unable to solve the unemployment problem, the farm problem, or any other domestic problem. It now hopes to throw a smoke-screen around its domestic failures by shouting that it can solve the foreign challenge.

Wendell Wilkie will start the new upward swing in motion by constructive administration encouraging idle men and idle plants and idle money to get to work.

It is the first time I have ever known of the American people being asked to continue in office a chief executive with millions of unemployed on hand, and yet, after preceding year of his administration, These are not "on order" but are on hand now.

Mr. Wilkie will not allow himself to be dominated by either labor captains or captains of industry. He believes regulation is necessary in our free enterprise system, yet he would free our nation from the shackles of government policies leading to its destruction.

These are some of Mr. Wilkie's assets that are important to our affairs at home.

National Defense

Now, let's look at our national defense program itself. There is too much vagueness, too much confusion, and too many offhand statements on the part of the chief executive. One day we read a statement from him favoring the conscription of both boys and girls in this country into labor battalions, which the Republican party opposes.

Another day, the president's secretary issues a statement, representing the president as believing that Hitler should be taken care of in Europe and Japan in Asia. The next day a White House secretary attempts to correct this terrible appeasement proposal, and only makes bad matters worse. This is a definite example of the haphazard government I spoke of a few minutes ago.

There is much doubt whether our preparations for national defense are being organized and pushed as effectively as our danger makes imperative. The training of men is as confused as the production of airplanes. The production of planes is as badly confused as the manufacture of guns and tanks. Today, no one knows how much of the military defense of this nation is still "on order," or worse still on plans.

In spite of all the mistakes of the past and particularly those of the last seven years, we are still a great and wealthy nation. But we are not as strong as we once were. We have lost billions of dollars of national wealth. Primarily we have lost this wealth through lack of production because only production can create true wealth. And we have wasted our substance in riotous political living.

This administration, with its record of continually springing new experiments and, therefore, never giving what is already started a chance to work, holds out little hope of ever being able to accelerate our national productivity to the peak we must attain to win our fight.

It seems apparent now, that should the dictators of Europe win their war, our major economic battles would be fought in the countries to the south of us.

To meet this threat, the administration proposed a "two or three billion dollar tariff" to buy the crops and the surpluses of the twenty-one great nations to the south of us. Nothing so fantastically impractical and economically absurd has ever been proposed before. This huge sum would only be a drop in the bucket. The old scheme of a spend and lend program was to be extended to an entire continent!

Agricultural Economy

We simply cannot buy the friendship of all the 21 nations to the south. Not only will we go bankrupt in the process, but, in the end, we will wind up with the loss of the purchased friendship. We can not find enough money to buy the wheat, cattle, corn, petroleum, and cotton surpluses the great countries in South America are capable of producing, to say nothing of their coffee and dozens of other products.

We can not drink the ocean dry, nor can we buy the surplus products of a continent. Such an idea will destroy our agricultural economy completely.

Since we are determined to prevent Nazi domination of the great nations to the south of us, the export bank to finance international trade along sound economic lines is the most desirable means. But we must not permit this bank to be used as an opening wedge for the cartel program. Let's not always resort to the most hysterical means of groping with a problem. Let us resolve to start on a simple basis.

We can not make ourselves sound at home, with the proposed cartel, by piling up more huge agricultural surpluses produced in foreign countries at a lower cost, and thus further depress the price the American farmer gets for his wheat, corn, cotton and cattle.

Any outcome of the current European problem is going to present new problems for us. Life is bound to be more exacting and less agreeable than it has been.

Actually, America has come of age in a world of nations. We must pursue our course from now on as an adult with an adult's realization of our responsibilities. Of course, the defeat of Great Britain would create great new problems for us. But it is worth realizing that Britain's victory will not solve those problems for us, either.

Under this administration, we have too much political play upon public opinion at home in dealing with foreign affairs. There has been a lack of steady, consistent foreign policy. To be perfectly frank, preceding administrations, both Republican and Democratic, have also been weak as revealed in the light of today. None, however, has mishandled foreign affairs so badly as to leave us so little friendship in the world at large as has the present administration.

Foreign Affairs

We will find a difference as great as the poles between the president and Mr. Wilkie in the handling of foreign affairs during the crucial years ahead of us. Mr. Wilkie will take the United States no farther in Europe and Asia's conflict, with uncertain politics than his measured judgment believes the interests of the United States make imperative. In contrast, the president, as a spectacular, mercurial, glib-tongued boy, will confuse the interest of the United States in the interest of the other countries, in his desire to play a new spectacular figure in world history. He wants to dominate world politics, just as he has dominated the Democratic party, and seeks to dominate the record of all other presidents by serving a life term.

Mr. Wilkie aspires only to be the president of the United States. He believes that solving the problems of this nation is enough demand on any man's ability and energy. He has no ambition or desire for a place as international referee on the battlefield of the world, while Mr.

Roosevelt is constantly trying to manage European affairs from the grandstand.

If I were Hitler, I would rather wage war against Mr. Roosevelt than against Mr. Wilkie, because Roosevelt's leadership, while more spectacular, is flighty. He believes he is a great military and naval strategist, just as he has believed with a record of one failure after another, that he is competent to advise all business, including agriculture, how to conduct its affairs.

The president, as all his friends admit, is a very clever politician. Mr. Roosevelt, more than any other chief executive in our time, has successfully concealed his plans and intentions from the American people. Therefore, no one can be sure that he will do after the November election. We heard a lot in 1936 of the belief that after four years of experimentation the president would settle down to a steady course, if given a second term only to be met with the Supreme Court pecking plan.

According to distinguished democratic members of congress, the president has already asked congress "to do everything but declare war and do everything that was ever done by any government in any war at any time."

Can't Deceive People

In stirring debate on the senate floor, Senator George of Georgia said, hardly 30 days ago: "Do not deceive yourself, gentlemen, do not try to deceive the American people. They will know that you are not preparing for peace, for national defense, but that you are preparing for war."

Will the president have congress declare war after the election? Or will he so conduct our national affairs that declaring war is a mere formality? No one can be sure.

Supreme Court Issue

Don't ever forget that after the last presidential election the Supreme Court issue was sprung on the American people like a bolt from the blue. That issue was never submitted to us at the ballot box. I suppose the president then, as now, was to quote him, "too busy to discuss political issues." Now, let's go back to the election of 1932 in our study of just how the next administration may act if given another four years in Washington. After that election of 1932, the NRA was sprung on the American people. NRA was never submitted at the ballot box, so that we would have a chance to vote on it. Apparently the president in 1932 was also "too busy to discuss political issues. There are two major examples of drastic changes suddenly proposed without the mature consideration of the American people.

What new trick will be sprung on the American people by this administration if Mr. Roosevelt is elected for another four years? How far will this administration go in curtailing American rights? No one can be sure. Events abroad give the new dealers their great opportunity to make government the master of organized labor, of agriculture, and of business. A dramatic step in that direction was taken by the president himself in proposing to conscript labor—just as well as boys.

I have noticed when the president proposes something like this, he never drops it. Sooner or later he attempts to manipulate things so that it will be necessary to return to his idea. Will we have labor concentration camps for girls, as well as boys, if Mr. Roosevelt is reelected? In view of his proposal for organizing them, it would appear likely.

The presidential nominee and head of the Republican party, Wendell Wilkie, has made his position clear and explicit. He views Hitler, Mussolini, and Stalin as threats and menaces to the kind of civilization in which we believe.

Mr. Wilkie has courageously and definitely left politics at the water's edge by vigorously endorsing the following statement which he quoted from the president:

"We will extend to the opponents of force the material resources of the nation, and at the same time we will harness the use of those resources in order that we in America may have equipment and training equal to the task of any emergency and every defense."

This record of patriotic cooperation with the chief executive explains why Mr. Wallace was forced to back down on his original below-the-belt attack on Mr. Wilkie.

Wilkie's Leadership

Wendell Wilkie has deep sympathy for those tragically unfortunate people whose fate is foreign hands. He recognizes the wisdom of giving all proper aid to Great Britain. Mr. Wilkie has real sympathy for the misguided and unfortunate German people, but none for Hitler, or Stalin, or Mussolini. He is firmly opposed to sending an armed expeditionary force to fight on European soil, and let me prophesy that if Mr. Wilkie is elected, congress will have more to say on this matter of life and death to American boys than they will under Mr. Roosevelt.

Last June, the president tried to get congress to adjourn. In view of the important legislation passed by congress since then, the desire of the president that congress go home doesn't indicate much foresight on his part of the national danger and need.

While we are talking about appeasement, I want to say something about an appeasement which has a far reaching meaning—the appeasement of the communists.

Fascism and communism are two sides of the same coin. They are both enemies of America. We now have an administration that apparently does not realize this simple fact. This administration has given aid and comfort to the communist enemies of America, and has given them encouragement in our midst. The national administration violently objected to Representative Dies attempting the patriotic duty of unearthing and bringing to light communists and fellow travelers. It has openly coddled the communist-dominated Youth Congress and the communist subjects and sympathizers in the government service.

Roosevelt the Spender

Wendell Wilkie is a saver, and Franklin Roosevelt is a spender. Mr. Wilkie said in his acceptance speech that he would try to run the country on as little money as possible. The would-be-life-learner has operated the government on just the opposite policy, and his running mate in this election says the only trouble is that the government hasn't spent enough. Maybe you can tell some people that, but I have a hunch that doesn't go over so well with you people of central Illinois.

The policy of government waste of our money was very well expressed by a close administration spokesman and adviser, who said: "We will spend and spend, we will tax and tax, and we will elect and elect." Mr. Roosevelt's policy of government waste in his acceptance speech about financial problems, but you can't hide a $3-billion dollar debt.

We must return to the methods of our fathers. We must judge our leaders by their common sense. The need is urgent for a lofty and intelligent discussion of national issues.

The rightful heritage of every American work, security, and confidence. He has a right to know what his political leaders will do tomorrow.

The new deal theory regarding the flow of vast federal expenditures was to prime the pump of recovery. In glowing terms, the expounded the theory of starting the flow of better business and increased employment by these methods. But even this much publicized theory wasn't given a chance to work.

And the reason why it didn't work is a perfectly simple one. In the midst of his pump priming, the President stopped to throw rocks at business. After all, that was a very entertaining diversion. It couldn't do any harm, since many new deal advisers said the capitalistic system was a failure, and it was their duty to replace it.

However, while the president was throwing rocks, he had to stop priming. And as everyone knows who has primed a pump, if you stop priming to throw rocks, your priming must start all over again. That is just what happened to the theory of pump priming. Another example of our impulsive haphazard administration.

The president had so much fun throwing rocks at everyone who didn't agree with him, including his own party leaders in the House and Senate, that he forgot to keep the pump going. You don't hear anything now of the old new deal slogan of priming the pump. You don't hear people asking you to vote for Roosevelt to continue prosperity.

To Bring Recovery

So if we are to have a sound economic recovery, if we are to have millions of idle men going back to work, if we are to have a strong and healthy agriculture, making us impregnable and vital at home as well as abroad, we must elect a president who will accomplish these things.

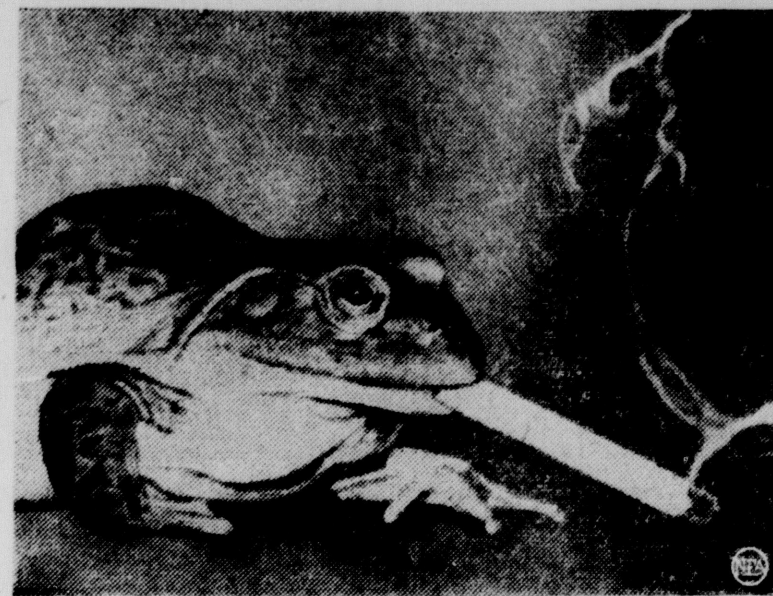

The election of Wilkie is the difference between four more years of starvation pittance for millions of Americans, and good jobs for these millions. His election will be the difference between continuing the Roosevelt depression, and a solid prosperity.

Wilkie's election will be a force for national unity and a national stability. We will then have a man of character, broad vision, executive ability, and determined to build a future for America.

Wilkie's election will do for our economic recovery and for our defense program what a three-inch rain would do for next year's wheat crop.

Washington saw no justification for a third term. He did not give his old soldiers and followers any opportunity to draft the "Father of his Country." The tradition he set has been recognized by the American people as a rule more sacred than a written law. Today the American voter must answer for the first time this challenge to our high tradition—a demand for a third term—a fourth term—a fifth term—yes, a life term.

Survey Costs of Sheriffs' Labors Throughout State

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 17—(AP)—The Illinois Legislative Council prepared today to make a statewide survey of the cost of county law enforcement by sheriffs.

The council authorized the survey at the suggestion of James O. Monroe of Collinsville, former state senator, who contended boards of supervisors in many Illinois counties were illegally appropriating general funds of the counties to pay salaries and expenses of sheriffs' officers.

In an injunction suit instituted by Monroe, the Madison county Circuit court held recently that the sheriff is a fee officer under the state constitution and that salaries and expenses of his office can be derived only from fee earnings of his office. Madison county officials have appealed the injunction ruling to the state Supreme court.

The Legislative Council's study is intended, Monroe said, to determine what part of the cost of county law enforcement through sheriffs is being financed by general fund appropriations of county boards. In Madison county, he said, fees were sufficient to pay only one-third of the cost of the sheriff's office.

Monroe said general fund appropriations, subject to legal attack by taxpayers, might be eliminated by increasing sheriffs' fees or increasing the personnel of the state highway police. He predicted some such "corrective" legislation would be presented to the 1941 state legislature.

Rep. Joseph Sam Perry (D-Wheaton) was listed as the Legislative Council member sponsoring the survey. The council is an agency created by the general assembly to do research in connection with subjects likely to be considered by the legislature.

Match Bowling Game

The Beier's bread bowling teams of Dixon and Kewanee will meet in a match game here tonight at 9 o'clock at the Dixon Recreation alley. Those on the Dixon team are: Jiggs McCordie, Mike Dusing, Carl Snively, George Breeding and Ed Worley.

Basketball Practice Starts

Coach John Mitchell and his Franklin Grove Tigers opened their basketball practice sessions Monday night with 25 candidates turning out for the varsity and lightweight teams. Six lettermen are returning to the Grovers' court this season and they included: Wallace Heckman, guard; Robert Myers, guard; Ivan Hullah, center; Rodney Maronde, forward; Richard Myers, forward and George Miller, forward.

To Return to Dukes' Roster

Kenneth Potts, who was injured in early football practice here after he had given promise of excellent work as tackle, will be out for practice Monday night to strengthen the Dukes' forward wall.

Ducks and Pheasants

Those who get up with the sun to get to work early this a. m. were rewarded by the sight of 50 ducks and 50 pheasants loaded in a box on top of a car parked in front of a downtown restaurant. The birds were the kill of three Kewanee men who were returning from a hunting trip in South Dakota. Nice work, if you can get it.

In Hospital

Arnold Salzman, former member of the Dixon high school football team, is convalescing in a hospital at Galesburg where he was recently operated upon for an injury sustained in football practice with Knox college where he is a student. He is reported to be improving rapidly.

New Steward Coach

Leo Stenback, new coach at Steward high school, came from Evansville, Minn., where his team established the unusual record of 20 wins out of 22 basketball games. Steward's eagles will open their season in less than a month (Nov. 12) at Ashton.

Quote and Unquote

Harry Kidd, Sterling sports scribe, says Coach Ted Scheid does not have to bear down on his squad this year. The boys are really getting quite a kick out of football this season and are taking their practice sessions seriously, but getting lots of fun out of them.

DeMolay and Sports

The Dixon chapter of the DeMolay is planning an active season of sports and among the activities for which teams are planned are: bowling, rifle shooting, basketball, boxing, fencing, golf, ping pong, swimming, and track. Bob Travis and Fred Sanford head the committee working out the details for the athletic program.

Only One Exit

You know about the guy who started painting the floor around the door of a room which had only one exit and wound up in the corner. Well, predicting high school football games is something of the same thing and we're sure to mess up a swell paint job before this is finished. However.

Dixon over Mendota. That's not as easy as it sounds and if the Dukes think so they're in for it. Every so often one of the small schools comes through with a surprise team and the party is on the victim. We'll still take Dixon, but not by a big margin.

Sterling over Belvidere. This could be an upset with the Boone county warriors steadily improving and with Sterling pretty confident these days. But those ten-second men in the Scheid backfield get the nod and it should be Sterling.

Rock Falls over Rochelle. It's a natural for thrills and may decide the Rock River conference. Both teams are powerful this year and both are determined. We can't see too much to be gained from playing on th home lot, but it may help the Rockets.

DeKalb over Princeton. The news from DeKalb is that the Barbs have been working all week on pass defense, and their efforts may spoil Princeton's homecoming event. Injuries in the Dixon game were said not to be too serious and those Barbs are big boys.

Oregon over Morrison. The Hawks are one of the best teams in the Rock River conference and last week rolled over Amboy 33 to 0 and they should mean something. Morrison lost, 28 to 0, on the same night to Rochelle.

St. Morris over Polo. It's high time the Mounders came through after their early season showing. Polo just doesn't have it this season, we're sorry to say.

Portraits on Canvas

Luke Alfano of Rockford evened the count with his second Rochelle adversary last night when he knocked out Vern Stunkel in the third round of their feature bout at Mandell's gym in Rockford. In other fights Mike Sartino was given an unpopular decision over Roger Cote of Rochelle; John Stael won over Bill Thorp of Rochelle.

Oran Leemkuil of Peconic defeated "Shoelace" Ullman Burright of Ashton in their 118-pound match. Fred Stewart of Rochelle defeated Don Pennitoff of Freeport at 126-pounds and Junior Pearce of Rochelle bested Eddie Maifi of Rockford.

NORTHWESTERN'S FANS CREDIT THE TEAM'S LINEMEN

Ingwersen is Recognized As One of Best Coaches Of Boys Up Front

Evanson, Ill., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Just about everyone on the campus knows the first and last names of the Northwestern guards and tackles these days—a state of affairs which pays tribute to the line which has been fashioned by loquacious Burt Ingwersen.

Bill De Corveant, Don Clawson and other ace backs are scoring the points, but for the first time in several seasons Northwestern fans are giving credit and recognition for the team's showing to the boys up front. By doing that they compliment Ingwersen, long recognized in this sector as one of the best line mentors in the game.

Before the season opened and Northwestern wins over Syracuse and Ohio State were only faint hopes, the Wildcats were conceded to have good backfield material and practically none at all for a first class line.

Small Forward "Wall" "As lines go today," Ingwersen said, "we have a fairly small forward wall. Al Butcher at right end weighs only 168 pounds. Our guards, Joe Lokane and George Zorich, are around 190 each with Aarts at 185 and Jim Smith, the other end, coming in at 175. Alf Bauman, left tackle, is the only 200-pounder on our first string."

Ingwersen, who keeps his eyes focused so intently on line play that he usually has to ask "Who scored?" was one of Illinois' great guards in 1917, 1918 and 1919. Then he played a year professionally with the old Staleys of Decatur, Ill., now the Chicago Bears, before spending three years as an assistant at Illinois. After serving eight seasons as head coach at Iowa, he coached the line at Louisiana State before coming to Northwestern in 1935.

Work on Signals

Northwestern's workout yesterday was confined to signal drills, place kicking and put returning. . . . Ohio State hammered at blocking and tackling as officials indicated that the Minnesota game might attract 72,000 persons, the first sellout at Columbus since the Notre Dame game in 1935.

Illinois lost George Rettinger, veteran right half, for the Michigan game. Torn ligaments in his left knee may keep him out of the lineup for three weeks. Meantime, Michigan drilled against passes as scouts reported that six Illinois passes in the Southern California game and that there were 13 different receivers.

Iowa also continued to operate against passes in preparation for Indiana and Hal Hursh. . . . in their own drill, the Hoosiers ran wild in a long offensive workout. . . . Wisconsin's battered squad was impressive in its last heavy practice for Northwestern. . . . Minnesota polished its attack in a spirited drill. . . . Purdue, idle this week, experienced with lineup changes. Three sophomores—Lavern King, Ony Berto and Paul Anderson—are vying for the injured Mike Byelene's right halfback position.

Ohio State Win Over Purdue Is Debate of Hour

LaFayette, Ind., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Whether Ohio State's football team legally defeated Purdue a week ago last Saturday became the question of the hour today on the Purdue campus.

Gordon Graham, sports editor of the LaFayette Journal & Courier, precipitated the turmoil when he reported in his column that motion pictures of Ohio State's 17-to-14 triumph over Purdue showed that Charley Maag, who came in to kick the game-winning field goal in the last 19 seconds of the game, was an ineligible player when he re-entered the contest.

Mal Elward, Purdue's coach, declined to comment as to what the pictures showed.

The story, as related by Graham, was that Maag was taken out of the game soon after the second quarter started and then was sent back just before the end of that period.

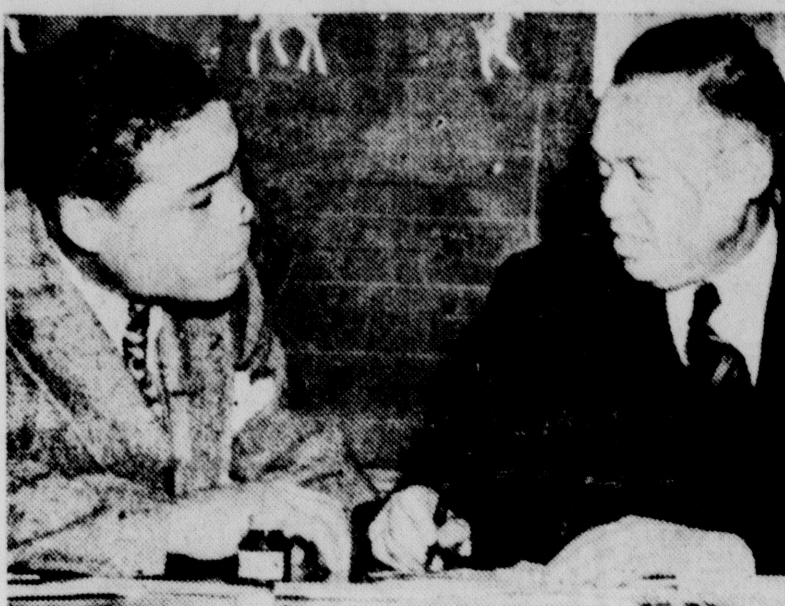

The rules provide that a player may not return to the game in the same quarter in which he is withdrawn; if he does so, he shall be suspended from the game and his team penalized 15 yards.

Under the rules, the umpire is charged with responsibility of determining the legality of substitutions. W. D. Knight of Dartmouth umpired the game.

Columbus, O., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Associates of Coach Francis Schmidt of Ohio State university said today he admitted Charley Maag played illegally in the game with Purdue, that he took full responsibility for the mistake and had apologized publicly.

Uncle Sam Signs Greatest Team of Athletes But Hasn't Decided on the Starting Lineup

Stars From All Branches of Sports Answer Selective Service Draft Throughout the Nation Yesterday

By BILL WHITE

New York, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Uncle Sam signed the greatest "team" of athletes to contracts yesterday in the history of sports, but he doesn't know yet who'll make the starting lineup.

All the way from unsung blocking backs on freshwater colleges to the highest paid stars of the professional firmament, the world of sports answered the selective service draft with enough athletes to make glad the heart of the most pessimistic coach.

New York, of course, gave more athletes to the team that may have to fight the biggest battle of 'em all than any other city.

Bobby Feller and "Oom Paul" Derringer, baseball's prize pitchers headed the 'baseball parade to the polls but the names of Harry Danning of the Giants, Manager Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox and Hank Greenberg reputedly the big league's best-salaried player, also were put on the white cards.

Whole Team Registers Mel Hein of the New York pro grid Giants took his whole team to the place of registration and the pros and collegians who on Saturdays and Sundays are big shots, but who were just guys in a line yesterday—followed suit. Whizzer White, Turfey Leemans, Tommy Harmon, Coach George Minger of Penn and a host of others answered the call.

Golf top-flighters, National Champion Lawson Little and P. G. A. kungpin Byron Nelson registered, as did the prize ring's champion Joe Louis, madcap Maxie Baer and light-heavyweight king Billy Conn, who quipped "I'd just as soon fight for Uncle Sam as Uncle Mike (Jacobs)."

Although most of the athletes were considered highly eligible to be "invited" by Uncle Sam to spend a year as his guest, the professional baseball men seemed less concerned than any other, for most of the major league stars are married, and therefore would probably not be among the first called for duty.

ence coaches have agreed to assume responsibility for the legality of substitutions.

"Some years ago," Maj. Griffith said, players carried cards into the game when substituting. This slowed the contests, with the result that coaches agreed to be fully responsible for the legality of substitutions. Since cards are not used anymore, blame for a mistake of this kind should not be placed on the official. If one of the coaches made a mistake, it's too bad. The incident is closed."

PER CAPITA INCOME Washington (AP)—The commerce department announced that income per capita in Illinois amounted to $640 in 1939, compared with the national per capita figure of $536. In 1938 the Illinois figure was $603.

The annual cost of operating an automobile is said to be between $150 and $200.

N. Y. C. REGISTRATION New York, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Col. Arthur V. McDermott, New York City selective service administrator, announced early today a final unofficial check showed that 1,001,377 men registered for the draft in the city's five boroughs.

Statistics Back Up Cornell Claim as Top Grid Team

Seattle, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Statistics today bore out the sports writers' choice of Cornell as the nation's number one football team in this week's Associated Press grid poll.

The Ithacans moved up from second to first place as the country's leading eleven in total offense, gains rushing and passing—figures released by the American football Statistical Bureau disclosed.

Also, Cornell retained its lead by a wide margin as collegians' top passing team.

In thumping Colgate, 34-0, and Army 45-0, Cornell, in 126 plays, gained 357 yards rushing and 507 in the air for a total of 864 yards, or an average of 432 yards per game—the figure by which the bureau ranks the teams.

The Cornell average for yards per game through the air was a phenomenal 253.5 or 61.5 yards ahead of second place Illinois.

Mississippi and Detroit, on statistics available for three games each tied for second place in total offense with marks of 321.7.

Illinois, which also was second last week, gained 192 yards through the air per game, followed by Missouri, 185.7; Marquette, a newcomer to the upper bracket, 169.5; Indiana, which dropped from third, 144.5; and Oklahoma, which rose from tenth, 141.5.

TENNESSEE IS FAVORED OVER ALABAMA TEAM

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Tennessee's powerful football team, pointing toward a third Southeastern Conference title, today ruled a heavy favorite over untested Alabama in their annual gridiron classic at Birmingham Saturday.

These Alabama-Tennessee scraps have given Dixie its fiercest grid play for more than a decade now, and it has become an axiom in southern football that the winner is title bound.

That's not quite exact, but it's true enough to build a proverb. For with only two exceptions in the last 12 years, the victor in the classic has won or shared a conference championship.

Alabama supporters, chary of predicting a Crimson victory, pointed to the fact that triple-threat Jimmy Nelson, despite an 88-yard runback on an intercepted pass against Howard in his only 1940 appearance, hasn't yet tested a shoulder injured in a pre-season practice.

Only Mildly Stimulating And the Crimson's have been only mildly stimulating in three games against warm-up opponents.

The Volunteers, on the other hand, have swept over all opposition, handling highly-rated Duke with the same ease they mauled lesser foes.

Bob Foxx has engineered the Neyland juggernaut from his new tailback position with the assurance of a master. Ed Molinski, Bob Snuffridge, Ed Cifers, Johnny Butler, Ike Peel, Bob Andridge, and Ab Shires have shown no diminution of their gridiron prowess.

Coach Frank Thomas, with Alabama more of a short-ender than at any time since the current series began in 1928, has been reticent with pre-game comment. "We're up against a tough club but we won't throw in the sponge," Thomas said.

For better all-round performance, motor car wheels should be lubricated about every 5000 miles.

Lindellmen Will Seek Third Conference Win In Game to Avenge Last Year's 6-0 Defeat

Freshman-Sophomore Game to Start at 6:45 O'clock; Coaches Name Their Starting Lineups

Yesterday afternoon the Dixon Dukes trotted out of their dressing room bearing a tackle dummy littered in adhesive tape with the initial of a Mendota halfback and as they strung "him" up on the apparatus, the ceremony had all the rabid determination of an effigy hanging.

Out to avenge a 6 to 0 defeat of last year, the Dukes will head into Mendota tomorrow night seeking their third 1940 conference victory. The assignment is not an easy one for Coach Lindell and his boys. The defeat of last year served to warn the Dukes that Mendota's gridiron will be no bed of roses and the scores of the Mendota games this season have been pre-game thorns.

Eight lettermen answered Coach Rufus Dewitt's call at the beginning of the year, and around them he has built one of the school's best teams. These lettermen include Frank Seno, Wayne Spenader and E. Peterson in the backfield with Glenn Harjes, Bob Krenz, D. Cronwell, Charles Gesslein and Bob Larkin to brace the forward wall.

Mendota's Record This season the Mendota record shows three victories, one tied game and one defeat. In the only loss of the season the Mendota men made an impressive 14 to 12 stand against a highly touted Sterling eleven and in the deadlocked engagement they battled to a 6 to 6 tie with Belvidere, one of the conference's up and coming squads.

In five games Mendota has scored 97 points as compared to 32 by the opposition. Dixon, in the same number of scraps, has totaled 67 tallies while Rock Falls is the only team to have crossed the Dukes' goal with two touchdowns and one extra point.

Flashing out like a comet in the Mendota backfield is Frank Seno, left halfback, who last Friday night streaked 35 yards to give his mates their only touchdown in a 7 to 6 victory over Geneseo, leaders of the Black Hawk conference.

Dewittmen Scorers In conference competition the Dewittmen have scored 18 points with Seno accounting for 12 and D. Faber chalking up six in the Sterling game.

With prospects brightened by a 27 to 0 triumph over DeKalb last week, Coach Lindell has been drilling his Dukes in a perfection of the plays which clicked over the Barbs and working out new formations.

Jack Ferger has been out of recent practice sessions due to an arm injury, but aside from his loss, the team is at full strength and raring to go. Ferger, however, is expected to be in the pink of shape by the time the starting whistle sounds tomorrow night.

This week young Cater has been working at left halfback, bringing the total of candidates for this position up to four with Weidman, Vaughn and Egler as the other possible players.

Starting Lineup Possible changes from last week's lineup included "either so and so or so and so" at the two ends. Shank may get the starting assignment for left end with Bugg as the other possibility and Ferger or Shultz may start at right end.

Probable lineups for the varsity game are as follows:

Dixon	Pos.	Mendota
Shank	Faber
Vaile	Lane
Weaver	Kronm
Shiras	Krenz
Sanford	Brown
Quick	Gesslein
Ferger	Larkin
Walder	Spenader
Weidman	Seno

The Columbus miss hasn't been informed of the board's decision on her request for a spot on the team, but she's made up her mind on what she'll do if its adverse.

"I'll just shoulder my rifle and picket the athletic offices, the rifle range, and Sergeant Shaia's home," she declared.

Government Loans on Crops Fitted in Defense Plan

Washington, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Farmers are storing millions of bushels of wheat and thousands of bales of 1940 cotton under loan programs which are expected to give the federal government control over upwards of $1,500,000,000 worth of food and fiber supplies by midwinter.

Similar loans will be made available on corn and possibly several other crops within a few weeks.

Agriculture department officials said the loan programs, designed originally to bolster producer prices, were being fitted into the national defense program to assure reserve supplies in the event of war and to protect consumers against sharp price advances such as occurred in the last war.

Crops being placed under government loans are mainly those which normally would move into foreign markets now closed by the war.

Officials explained that in the event the United States became involved in war and prices began to increase sharply, supplies stored under loans could be released from storage, and probably would counteract price advancing tendencies.

Owens Large Holdings
Loans totaling about $150,000,000 already have been made on about 210,000,000 bushels of surplus wheat.

The government owns large quantities of farm crops which it acquired under foreclosure of loans on old crops. Included are about 6,500,000 bales of cotton, 88,000,000 bushels of corn, 190,000,000 pounds of tobacco, 1,500,000 bushels of wheat, 28,620,000 pounds of peas and vetch and 58,296 tons of rubber. The rubber was obtained in a deal with Great Britain under which that country obtained surplus American cotton.

Other crops of which supplies are stored under government loans include 1938 and 1939 corn, raisins, barley, hops, rye, dates and pecans.

Commodities placed under loans are sealed in warehouses, cribs and elevators and cannot be sold as long as the loans are outstanding.

Responsibility of Press Will Mount in Post-War Times
Chicago, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Post-war reconstruction will impose added responsibilities upon the free press of the British empire and the United States, Napier Moore of Toronto asserted today in an address to the 27th annual meeting of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

"Our responsibility is one that will grow, not diminish, when the tide of war recedes," said Moore, who is editor of Maclean's Magazine. "For upon the manner of our reconstruction must depend the future happiness and liberty of mankind."

"What from that reconstruction will take I do not know, do not presume to forecast. But it is inconceivable that the voices of all English-speaking peoples will not be heard."

Or the rights held by English-speaking peoples, Moore said, none can excel in importance the right of a free press. With the freedom enjoyed by the press, he added, "there goes a responsibility tremendous in its weight."

Great Responsibility
"It is a responsibility which, in sober reality, may well embrace the fate of civilization," he declared in voicing a belief that the financial side of the publishing business must be secondary in importance to "the quality of the influence we exercise in the stimulation of public opinion".

Discussing United States investments in Canada, Moore declared that the World War ended with this stake "still secure, still profitable". He averred that the end of the current conflict likewise would find United States investments in the dominion secure.

"If it isn't, the reason will be that the whole foundation of democracy, in which there is honest endeavor to fulfill pledges, has crumbled," he added. "I do not believe that we of this North American continent will see that day come."

Two Slayings Face Mandatory Death
Stockton, Calif., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Dewey Clark and Henry Jones, Fresno, Calif., Negroes, were convicted last night of first degree murder of Nathan Chinchio and Dorothy Woolter April 28.

The jury did not recommend leniency, which makes a death sentence mandatory.

Chinchio and Miss Woolter were found with their throats cut. They had been robbed and a coroner expressed belief the girl had been raped.

According to army experts, the smaller fighting planes cost about $5000 apiece.

Stuart Senneff, Former Dixonite, Model Patrolman

The Florida State Police & Public Safety Report contains the following story in its current issue concerning Lt. Stuart A. Senneff, formerly of Dixon. Mr. Senneff is a graduate of Dixon high school and St. John's Military Academy of Delafield, Wis., and is a brother of Mrs. Vernon Tennant, 310 Lincoln Way, Dixon.

"If we had to select a highway patrolman to act as a model and example of what a patrolman is expected to be, our choice would fall without hesitation upon Lieutenant Stuart A. Senneff, who is in charge of the southeastern district—everything south of a line between Sarasota and Fort Pierce. This is the southernmost of the three districts into which the state is divided.

"Lieutenant Senneff has to cover this large and populous territory with a patrol of only nine men. To do this, he and his men now work an average of 15 or 16 hours daily and usually put in a tour of 20 to 22 hours on weekends. Of course, these are the summer hours. Along about January and February we imagine these patrolmen will be rather busy.

"Lieutenant Senneff came to Florida from his native Illinois in 1925 to become rich. Circumstances beyond the lieutenant's control forced at least a temporary postponement of the pursuit of fortune—in fact, to quote Lieutenant Senneff not too literally, he gave up the pursuit of fortune to join the mobs who were in pursuit of their shirts at the end of the boom. At any rate, we find him a member of the old highway patrol under Governor Scholtz, or the traffic inspectors' division of the state road department, to be exact. After this patrol was disbanded, Lieutenant Senneff had charge of traffic on the Overseas highway with headquarters at Marathon. He was among the first to be selected for training at Bradenton when the present highway patrol was organized. Here his previous experience stood him in good stead and he came through among the leaders in his rating. Within six months he had won his commission as lieutenant and was placed in charge of his present district.

"Lieutenant Senneff is married to a Florida girl, is the inordinately proud father of Stuart, Jr., now six, and lives at present at Miami. That is, his family lives at Miami. Lieutenant Senneff lives in patrol car—and it is but a minor exaggeration, for he literally eats, sleeps, thinks and talks Florida highway patrol. His first qualification as our model patrolman is his enthusiasm in his work and his pride in the work of the patrol as a whole. Lieutenant Senneff may not be the best patrolman in the state, but it is not because he is not out on the road trying. Not trying to be the best patrolman, of course, but trying to do his duty as a patrolman exactly as he sees it—and he has very definite ideas as to his duty. The only complaint we have heard about Lieutenant Senneff is that he does not know a 'big shot' when he meets him on the road—or even a member of a 'big shot's' family."
